Memberships, and Products available for individual sale, are sold as a one-person license and are not transferable to another user at any time as stated. Therefore, any business, association, enterprise, corporation, company, or the like employing more than one individual that would require access to Built2Go.com Products to utilize the Products in any manner or for any purpose must purchase an individual license for each employee. This requirement does not change due to replacement or termination of the employee the license was previously purchased for either by the employer directly or by the employee on behalf of his employer. Built2Go.com's Products are intended to be used as a starting point for websites You intend to develop for Your clients, so there must be significant modifications beyond pure content, text, and imagery changes. If You are unable to make the modifications required to utilize Built2Go.com Products for Your client, or You do not wish to perform these modifications, then it is still possible to use Built2Go.com Products for Your clients, however You will need to purchase a new license for each client that You develop a site for and register Your client's information via Built2Go.com's online license management system.
